WOULD NOT PASS HAWAIIAN ISLANDS

Tawney Says No Oriental Nation
Would Send Fleet to Mainland.

WASHINGTON, December 17.—Representative Tawney, chairman of the house appropriations committee, issued a statement today in regard to the condition of the national defenses of the United States, which is calculated to allay the fears of those inclined to view with alarm the "war scare" agitation. His statement follows:

"When you compare the expenditures of the United States government on account of the army and navy with those of foreign nations, you will be forced to the conclusion that there is a pitiful waste of money somewhere and that the government is not getting all that it pays for."

"We should not encourage our people to surrender to militarism that self-reliance, that consciousness of superior individual national strength on which as a nation they have always relied, by teaching them to rely on a standing army and a navy in time of peace large enough to be capable of successfully competing with the armies and navies of the world, or any of them, in time of war."

European nations have no transport service sufficient, even without or position, to land an American soil an army of one hundred thousand men at a given time. There is no country in the Orient that has a naval base within reaching distance of our Pacific Coast, and no oriental nation would be so reckless as to risk the loss of its navy or its fleet by attempting to send it past the Hawaiian Islands to attack the Pacific Coast."

"Our geographical isolation is an asset of our nation far more valuable as a means of defense than all the navies we can build. No nation, European or oriental, would be reckless enough to risk the loss of its army and navy by attempting to invade our soil or come within range of our coast batteries."

HALF OF PEOPLE GO TO BED HUNGRY

Problem of Subsistence Greatest for Human Race to Solve.

CHICAGO, December 12.—"The problem of subsistence is the problem of nine-tenths of the human race today, and it is probable that tonight one-half of the people of the earth will go to bed hungry, or, at least inadequately fed," said President Charles B. Van Hise, of the University of Wisconsin, in his address yesterday to the Chicago Ethical Society on the "Ethical Aspects of the Conservation Movement."

"We are the most reckless and improvident of all people of all time. But we have seen an outburst of remedial legislation during the first decade of the twentieth century that is unparalleled in the history of the race."

"This legislation is not the result of hysteria, but is simply the awakening to the necessity of conserving our resources."

"The time of individualism is gone by. It must give way to collectivism. No longer shall one who controls a natural resource say: 'It's all mine. I will do with it as I please.' We must develop a sense of social responsibility. We must realize our responsibility to our descendants. Conservation means the greatest good to the greatest number, and that for the longest time."

Speaking of the waste of our coal supply, he said that the abatement of the smoke nuisance alone in cities of the United States would save $500,000,000 annually and we'd save Chicago $50,000,000 annually.

MILLIONS SENT ABROAD AT CHRISTMAS TIME

NEW YORK, December 16.—One of the most prosperous of Santa Claus branch establishments in these ante-Christmas days is the foreign money order department at the New York postoffice. The biggest day which this department has ever had was Wednesday of the present week, when nearly 25,000 vouchers were purchased for redemption in foreign countries. Last year New York's foreign-born population sent 635,000 money orders, representing $10,260,000, to the home folks during the month of December. The reports for the first half of the present month indicate that the December business this year will show about 750,000 foreign money orders for more than $12,000,000.
